

Alla Prima Portrait Painting From Life

With Jo Ellen Reinhardt

Learning to paint the portrait is a delightful journey. It challenges the artist to see subtle angles and shapes of the human form. This class is for both the beginner to professional artist wishing to learn about painting the portrait or brush up on their skills. Course topics include composition, values, edges, lite anatomy and more. Each class will start with a quick demonstration. One on one instruction will be given to help individual students meet their personal goals. Classes are taught in oil using a limited palette. Students with experience are welcome to paint with an extended palette of colors. Students may also elect to draw. The last two classes will be a longer pose. Optional homework will be assigned to help students fine tune their skills.
